Alchemist for Fifth Edition

The Science of Magic!

The ALCHEMIST Class offers a new full class to your players that crosses the boundaries between science and magic. In addition to the new core class, this supplement provides 7 alchemical traditions that emulate archetypes from Dr. Jekyll to Dr. Frankenstein.

Product Information

This product provides players with a new 20 level Intelligence-based caster class that allows players to share alchemical effects with their allies, 6 traditions updated with playtest material and feedback from the readers, and a new tradition not seen anywhere else.

Inside you'll find:

- Artificer: Create technological devices and master a range of alchemical formulas.
- Irezumi: Infuse ink with alchemical and mystical qualities to skin-stain your allies, or mark them with long-lasting power.

- Metamorph: Mutate yourself into a beast of terrifying power.
 - Poisoner: Create and manipulate unique toxins.
 - Pyromancer: Twist magical effects into weapons that terrify or amaze.
 - Re-Animator: Circumvent the whims of the gods and bend the dead to your will.
 - Herbwarden: Draw power from plants and herbs, and call the natural world to your aid.

These materials were designed for use with 5th edition rules and can be played directly in your 5th edition campaign.

Artificer
Class Specialization

Artificer

Artificers are the blacksmiths of the alchemical traditions, creating clockwork, electrical, and technomagical devices that allow characters to fly, counter magical effects, and cross into other dimensions. Arcane lock may be a physical device attached to a door. Move earth may be a set of plow handles that project a telekinetic effect. Instead of a weapon made of force, arcane sword may be a clockwork weapon that hovers near the artificer. Mixtures such as ray of frost often take

Herbwarden
Class Specialization

Where other alchemists focus their studies on animals, magical beasts, or technology, herbwardens study the unique properties of natural and magical plants, as well as the sentience of plant creatures. Herbwardens are able to enhance the innate traits of plants as well as incorporate their abilities into the humanoid body. Herbwarden mixtures commonly take the form of teas, tinctures, salves, and tablets.

Bonus Formulas

The majority of mixtures created by

Irezumi
Class Specialization

Irezumi

Irezumi are the artists of the alchemical traditions. Though their common name is Asian in origin, Irezumi hail from a range of cultures including rainforest tribes, religious cults, barbarian hordes, and contemplative monasteries, as well as arcane universities and metropolitan cities.

The majority of mixtures created by

Poisoner
Class Specialization

Poisoner

Poisoners have been sought after for as long as there has been conflict. Alchemists of the poisoner tradition create mixtures that affect the body and mind, creating lethal hallucinations, inhibiting mental faculties, weakening the body, or outright killing their foes.

All of the poisoner's bonus formulas are considered poison effects (see Poisonous Formulas below), and take the form of gases,

Pyromancer
Class Specialization

Despite their nom de guerre, pyromancers are experts in fireworks, explosives, and energy manipulation of all kinds. Sought after by royalty and warbands alike, both for their ability to entertain as destroy enemies en masse, the skills of a skilled pyromancer go for a high price and their names reach farther and wider than many wizards.

The majority of mixtures created by pyromancers take the form of bombs, rockets, explosive vials, and empowered ranged weapons and

Metamorph
Class Specialization

Metamorph

Not all alchemists search for answers in the outside world. Some resort to personal and "professional" experimentation to improve the humanoid condition. Metamorphs learn techniques for enhancing the abilities of their companions as well as transforming their own bodies.

Alter self, enhance ability, jump, expeditious retreat, and regenerate are often potions, salves,

Re-animators
Class Specialization

Re-animators

Alchemists are renowned for their understanding of the arcane sciences – chemistry, physics, geology, herbology, engineering, and, of course, biology. All alchemists have basic healing skills, but re-animators use their knowledge to circumvent the capricious whims of the divine and hold the power of life and death in their hands.

Mixtures created by re-animators resemble the classic alchemist's wares – potions, salves, creams
